BILLY WILDER (Samuel Wilder, born in Sucha, Austria-Hungary, 1906) wrote more than 60 screenplays and directed 24. Some of the films he wrote and directed are Irma la Douce 1963, The Apartment 1960, Some Like it Hot 1959, The Spirit of St. Louis 1957, Witness for the Prosecution 1957, The Seven Year Itch 1955, and The Lost Weekend (1945). He was nominated for 21 Oscars and won 7 of them, as well as the Academy's Irving G. Thalberg Memorial Award (1988), the American Film Institute's Life Achievement Award (1986), and nearly every other international major award given to directors. For more on him visit

FRED MACMURRAY (1908, Kanlakee IL—1991, Santa Monica) is perhaps best known for his twelve-year stint in the homey tv series "My Three Sons." He was also in about 90 movies, though (with the possible exception of Tom Keefer in The Caine Mutiny 1954) he probably never had in any of them a role for which he was as perfectly suited as Walter Neff in Double Indemnity. Some of his other films are The Happiest Millionaire 1967, Son of Flubber 1963, The Absent Minded Professor 1961, The Apartment 1960, Good Day for a Hanging 1958, Gun for a Coward 1956, The Far Horizons 1955, The Miracle of the Bells 1948, The Egg and I 1947, Dive Bomber 1941, Trail of the Lonesome Pine 1936, The Princess Comes Across 1936, and The Texas Rangers 1936.

BARBARA STANWYCK (Ruby Stevens, 1907, Brooklyn—1990, Santa Monica) finished her career playing Constance Colby in the tv series Dynasty (1985-1986). Before that she appeared in other tv series and miniseries, as well as about 90 films, starting as a fan dancer in Broadway Nights 1927. Some of her other films are Forty Guns 1957, The Violent Men 1955, Executive Suite 1954, Cattle Queen of Montana 1954, Titanic 1953, Clash by Night 1952, No Man of Her Own 1949, Sorry, Wrong Number 1948, The Strange Love of Martha Ivers 1946, Lady of Burlesque 1943, Ball of Fire 1941, Stella Dallas 1937, The Woman in Red 1935, Ladies of Leisure 1930, and Mexicali Rose 1929. She was nominated for four Oscars (Sorry, Wrong Number, Double Indemnity, Ball of Fire, Stella Dallas) and received an Honorary Academy Award in 1982. In 1987 she received the AFI Life Achievement Award.

Edward G. Robinson (Emanuel Goldenberg, 1883, Bucharest, Romania—1973, Hollywood) came to fame as the prohibition-era gangster Rico in Little Caesar 1931. Some of his other films are Soylent Green 1973, The Cincinnati Kid 1965, Cheyenne Autumn 1964, The Outrage 1964, The Prize 1963, Two Weeks in Another Town 1962, The Ten Commandments 1956, Hell on Frisco Bay 1955, House of Strangers 1949, Key Largo 1948, All My Sons 1948, The Night Has a Thousand Eyes 1948, The Stranger 1946, Dr. Ehrlich's Magic Bullet 1940, The Last Gangster 1937, and The Man With Two Faces 1934.

He's often cited as the best actor who never received an Oscar. The Academy, perhaps trying to make amends, gave him an honorary Academy Award shortly after his death.

Walter Neff: You'll be here too?

Phyllis: I guess so, I usually am.

Walter Neff: Same chair, same perfume, same anklet?

Phyllis: I wonder if I know what you mean.

Walter Neff: I wonder if you wonder.

Neff: It's just like the first time I came here, isn't it? We were talking about automobile insurance, only you were thinking about murder. And I was thinking about that anklet.

Keyes: They've committed a murder and it's not like taking a trolley ride together where they can get off at different stops. They're stuck with each other and they've got to ride all the way to the end of the line and it's a one-way trip and the last stop is the cemetery.

Walter Neff: Do I laugh now, or wait till it gets funny?

Walter Neff: I never knew that murder could smell like honeysuckle.

Walter Neff: Know why you couldn't figure this one, Keyes? I'll tell ya. The guy you were looking for was too close. Right across the desk from ya.

Barton Keyes: Closer than that, Walter.

Walter Neff: I love you, too.
